

Unfair childhood

Imagine that you turn back time and now you are a child again

What will you do?

Imagine you can change your childhood

What will you do?

Imagine you are not in your own childhood

but in another one,

What will you do?

Imagine that you turn back and you're from a different race,

you are white, but you turn as black,

you are European or American but you turn as Asian or African,

What will you do?

Imagine that instead of playing with toys,

you are playing with guns,

Imagine that instead of playing hide-and-seek with your friends,

you are playing hide-and-seek from bombs and explosions.

Imagine that instead of having nice clothes,

you're the one who creates it.

What will you do?

Imagine that instead of eating yummy food,

you don't eat anything in the whole day,

What will you do?

Imagine that instead of having education and go to school,

you start working in places that adults do.

Imagine that if you are a girl that instead of having education, you are married to an old man just because of money.

Imagine that if you were a boy that instead of having education,

you are recruited to a bad gangs to do bad things,

What will you do?

Even after all of that,

Will you come back as a child?
Maybe you had so much fun in your childhood, who knows?
Maybe you had everything in your childhood, who knows?
But out there, there are children who don't have nothing,
and that, not many do know it.
And that's why if you had the best childhood,
think of it as a privilege.
Because many other children will do anything,
to have that kind of a childhood.
So remember that, childhood is only once in life.
